Indiana Spine Group yesterday opened its dedicated spine center in Carmel at 13225 N. Meridian St.

This new, independent, free-standing spine facility is the only one in Indianapolis and one of a handful in the Midwest that provides comprehensive spine care in one centralized location – from spinal diagnosis to surgery. Additionally, this new spine center will include a bio-skills educational laboratory, unique in the state of Indiana.

“While caring for patients with spinal disorders and abnormalities, we saw a need to centralize all aspects of the patients’ diagnosis and treatment making it more convenient for our patients,” Dr. Kevin Macadaeg, vice president of Indiana Spine Group and a spine specialist, said in a release.

After years of planning, construction on the 60,174-square-foot spine center began in August 2010. Now completed, the new three-story facility will provide spinal diagnosis, education, imaging, treatment, physical therapy and out-patient surgery in one location. Highlights of the facility include, among other features, 16 patient exam rooms, an imaging suite for MRI and CT scanning and a physical therapy suite including services and equipment specifically for treating spinal conditions.

With the opening of the new facility, Indiana Spine Group’s offices at Harcourt Road will now close. The company also has offices on the Community Hospital North campus, and in Anderson and Kokomo.

A community open house will be held Nov. 19 to celebrate the opening of the new center.
